LSU Global Engineering Program Criteria

The LSU Global Engineering Program account will be used in all activities related to exposing students to the global context of engineering decisions and practices. Funding from the account will advance the College of Engineering by providing international educational experiences to students, allowing for a better understanding of global engineering practices. Through the LSU Global Engineering Program, the College of Engineering will host industry and faculty lectures and industry and international campus tours. The fund will also provide for student and faculty travel, program development and faculty support.
