

Mr. J. Steven Covington
The LSU Foundation
Senior Director of Development for the LSU College of Engineering

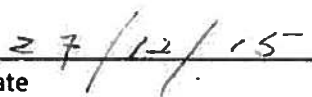

Dear Mr. Covington:

The Robert D. and Adele W. Anding Endowed Professorships in the Department of Chemical Engineering were donated by my husband and myself so that the funds could provide the greatest value to the faculty and the department. With this in mind, the Dean of the College of Engineering may award the professorships to the faculty in the manner that is in the best interest of the Department of Chemical Engineering.

While there has been an emphasis on bundling the professorships together for the benefit of one faculty member, I endorse the possibility that the professorships may be awarded individually to multiple faculty members so that the funds may be used as fully as possible in the teaching and research endeavors of the Chemical Engineering Department.

Sincerely,

Adele W. Anding
